Enquadramento

No período de 1 de julho de 2020 a 31 de dezembro de 2021, a Alemanha, Portugal e a Eslovénia formarão o Trio de Presidências do Conselho da União Europeia. European Parliament News | Covid-19: digital surveillance, borders and human rights

Measures against Covid-19 are needed, but their impact on privacy and freedom must be proportionate and temporary, said Maria Arena, the chair of the human rights subcommittee.

The Covid-19 crisis has put some of the fundamental principles of the EU to the test. During a Facebook Live, Maria Arena, chair of Parliament's human rights subcommittee, talked about the human rights aspects of the EU response to the pandemic.

“The EU has played an important role in enabling the free movement of goods and services, including medicines and equipment, to countries that needed them the most, Arena said, but it is “very important to come back to freedom of movement for citizens”. Europe is not Europe without that, she said.”

Demographic outlook for the European Union 2020

Demography matters. The economy and the labour market, but also social protection, intergenerational fairness and healthcare, the environment, food and nutrition are all driven by demography.

[European Parliament Think Tank | Coronavirus: An Uncertain Outlook \[What Think Tanks Are Thinking\]](#)

While many countries, notably in Europe, are currently easing restrictive measures aimed at containing the spread of the coronavirus (Covid-19), the latter is now rapidly spreading in other parts of the world, notably in the Americas and Indian sub-continent. The number of people globally who have tested positive for the disease is now approaching 10 million, exacerbating an already precarious situation in certain conflict-afflicted areas, such as Yemen. In Europe, analysts continue to examine the various ways of financing and promoting economic recovery from the depressive effects of the pandemic.

COVID-19 has brought unprecedented challenges to the global community. Apart from the large number of human losses and the intense pressure on the healthcare systems, the coronavirus has been a “crash test” for the world’s economy.

Worldwide, businesses have been directly or indirectly affected in various sectors (horeca, retail, tourism, events, construction, production etc.). About 90% of small and medium enterprises (SMEs) in Europe report loss of turnover. In the most affected sectors, 50% of companies are faced with liquidity problems, which may turn soon into the risk of insolvency. Furthermore, according to the latest SMEUnited survey, the restart seems to be slower than hoped and the crisis will last into 2021.

World Economic Forum | Shaping the Future of Cities, Infrastructure and Urban Services

Delivering critical infrastructure and services to urban environments and piloting new models of infrastructure financing, development and operations.

Urbanization is one of the key megatrends driving global economic growth. Cities are already home to more than half of the world’s population, and it is estimated that, by 2050, this percentage will grow to two-thirds.

Across the world, cities are struggling to provide critical infrastructure and urban services to support their burgeoning – and, in some cases, unrelenting – growth. Our Platform is focused on rethinking and adapting policies and processes based on shared best practices, creating new models for infrastructure financing and operation of city services, and involving citizens and end-users in the urban-services industry transformation.
